C. ADDITIONAL TRANSFER CRITERIA FOR RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM:

1. A new student can be considered:
 - a. If all of the current authorized student positions are not occupied;
 - b. If the applicant is transferring from or has graduated from an approved JRCERT Radiologic Technology Program, in radiography, radiation therapy, medical dosimetry or magnetic resonance;
 - c. Is currently not certified; and
 - d. Enrolls in an educational program to supplement previous education in order to become eligible to attain Certification and ARRT Associate Degree requirement prior to sitting for the certification exam in radiography.
2. Along with the applicant's transcript, the previous program will specify the credit/achievement of the student including; courses taken, clinical experience, beginning and termination dates, attendance records and grades. A determination will be made at this time as to whether the applicant's completed course work is compatible with the Cameron University curriculum and the Associate in Applied Science Degree in Radiologic Technology. The applicant will then be advised if they should complete the transfer procedure. Any student whose transferred courses and/or grades do not fulfill the requirements of this program may apply for acceptance into the next class of students.

4. According to the ARRT Application for Certification in Radiography to authenticate endorsements of ARRT requirements, students will be required during the school year to validate those ARRT requirements for graduation, by redoing all prior achieved clinical competencies from current JRCERT Radiography Program obtained in addition to mandatory clinical competencies identified within this university's current Radiologic Technology Clinical Handbook. Mandatory demonstration of competency requirements as identified in the Radiography Didactic and Clinical Competency Requirements document in place by the program will be mandatory for all transfer, or readmitted students at the time of program completion. This will establish foundational radiologic science principles on the ARRT's national certification in radiography and assure educational success.

ADVANCED STANDING:

ARRT has stopped accepting advanced placement applications for the primary eligibility pathway for students who have previous experience and want to earn an ARRT credential. For individuals who have completed a JRCERT accredited program and are seeking to re-qualify for the radiography certification, because of three unsuccessful attempts to pass the exam or three years have expired and are no longer eligible may enter the program under the same readmission processes, admission policies' criteria and clinical obligations as a new applicant and will need to complete all application processes.

If student has been out of a radiography program longer than one year, the student may enter the program under the same readmission processes, admission policies' criteria and clinical obligations as a new applicant and will need to complete all application processes and will start at the beginning of the program. This will establish foundational radiologic science principles on the ARRT's national certification in radiography and assure educational success.
